Dear Squantum resident and/or property owner,

You're invited to a "Walk & Talk around Squantum" on Sunday, June 3, 2012 at 3 pm.

The Town through its Historic District Commission is preparing a walking-tour guide for Squantum in the same format as the ones earlier issued for Downtown and Jaffrey Center (both available free at the Town Offices and the Chamber of Commerce).

Rob Stephenson, who prepared those two earlier walking-tour guides, is undertaking the Squantum version which should be available in September. He will be present on Sunday as will members of the Commission and a few people from around town interested in history.

You may be aware that the Commission undertook in 2009 an architectural/historical study of Squantum. This resulted in "Squantum Village—Historic Neighborhood Area Form," prepared by consultant Elizabeth Hengen. (You can access this and more about Squantum at <http://www.rs41.org/squantum.htm>) Liz will be with us on Sunday, too.

Research continues but it would be helpful to have some personal and on-site input from those who know Squantum best—the property owners and residents.

So those of you who would like to help us out, we'll meet in the middle of the Squantum common at 3 pm, talk about the village and what we'd like to include in the guide and do a short walk around. We would probably be finished by 4:30 or so. If it is raining, we'll try again the following Sunday, June 10th, at the same time, 3 pm.

I hope to see you on the 3rd of June. Please let others know about this "Walk & Talk."

Sincerely,

Tom Rothermel, Chair
